Pakistan og Irak-krisen.

Pakistans premierminister, Mir Zafarullah Jamali, udtalte i går den 10. ds. i Nationalforsamlingen, at regeringskoalitionen enstemmigt på et kabinetsmøde havde vedtaget, at "Pakistan will not support any war intentions against Iraq and its people". Udtalelsen tages her som en klar indikation af, at Pakistan nu har besluttet sig til ikke at stemme for en ny sikkerhedsresolution ad modum det indtil nu foreliggende forslag. Premierministeren kom ikke ind på, hvorvidt man ligefrem vil stemme imod eller blot afholde sig fra at stemme. Derimod fremgik det, at Jamali i aften, tirsdag lokal tid, vil tale til nationen og i denne forbindelse redegøre nærmere for "Pakistans standpunkt og begrundelsen herfor." Det hed i øvrigt i hans korte erklæring, at "peace must be given a chance and all options for a peaceful resolution must be explored".

Jamalis bemærkninger fremkom under et ordinært møde i Nationalforsamlingen, hvorunder en debat om Irak-situationen var sat på dagsordenen. Debatten udeblev imidlertid, idet oppositionsmedlemmerne - ligesom hidtil under den netop indledte ordinære samling - ved at undlade at indtage deres pladser og i stedet "belejre" formandens plads, forhindrede forhandlingerne. Efter et par kaotiske timer, hvorunder medlemmerne fortsatte deres efterhånden vanlige tilråb ("No, no, LFO", "Go Musharraf Go"), udsattes mødet påny. Overfor pressen udtalte Jamali sin undren over, at de samme partier, som havde insisteret på at gennemføre Irak-debatten, forhindrede denne.

Om parlamentskrisen henvises til senest ammail 085 af 087 af gårs dato. Søndagens anti-amerikanske demonstration og sikkerhedssituationen er omtalt i ammail 087 af samme dato.
